Mugshots released in bid to cut capital's highest burglary rate

By Lucy Purdy

MUGSHOTS of Haringey's most wanted burglary suspects have been released by police as part of a drive to turn the tide of a crime wave which saw 2,870 homes in the borough broken into last year.

The images are published here for the first time after the Advertiser petitioned for high-level clearance to print them from senior officers at Scotland Yard.

Haringey police, who backed the request, have taken the unusual step of releasing the gallery of images after it was revealed Haringey has a domestic burglary rate of double the capital's average. Some 30 in every 1,000 homes in Haringey were burgled last year – the fourth-highest rate of anywhere in the UK.

Officers involved in solving strings of burglaries in Haringey are now rounding up at least one suspect a day. Break-ins often fuel the drugs trade, with thieving addicts hunting out goods they can sell on quickly. Jewellery and electrical goods top their wish lists.

Officers would like to speak to these 12 people in connection with burglaries dating back as far as 2001 which have left distraught victims throughout the borough – some left too scared to live in their homes and so are forced to move.

The decision to release the images of suspects coincides with a Met-wide drive to tackle the problem under Operation Bumblebee.

Detective Inspector John Stone, of Haringey's burglary squad, appealed for the public's help in bringing them to justice.

He said: "I urge the public not to approach these men or take matters into their own hands. If you have information as to their whereabouts, call us immediately.

"Such crimes can be devastating, particularly to the elderly, and we want to use everything at our disposal to catch those we think may be responsible so that we can bring them before the courts.

"I urge the public not to approach these men or take matters into their hands."

"Burglaries often have a significant impact on the victim's sense of safety and privacy within their own homes.

"While law enforcement plays an important part in combating burglary, I cannot stress enough the importance of taking some good basic home security measures. You have to think like a burglar to be able to stop one."

Officers in Haringey have made more than 340 arrests for burglary and swooped on 65 people carrying burglary toolkits since January.

'We're tackling burglary from every angle' been pumped into tackling the problem and fresh tactics, such as automatic number plate recognition technology, employed in a bid to hamper and deter repeat offenders.

A prolific burglar wanted for breaking his parole conditions has already been sent back to jail as a result of one raid in Haringey.

Strong links between burglary and desperate junkies stealing from homes to fuel their addiction has led officers to target crack houses. Police have arrested 135 people and shut down 20 crack houses and five cannabis farms this year.

"Burglars want to commit their crime as quickly as possible without being seen," DI Stone explained. "So we're encouraging residents to cut back hedges at the front of their homes so that intruders can be seen, and to use their locks."

"We're tackling burglary from every possible angle and are totally committed to catching offenders and bringing them to justice."

If you believe you may have been burgled and require immediate police attendance, for example if you believe someone may have broken in and is still inside, call 999.

If it is not an emergency call police on 0300 123 1212.

Taking the sting out of burglary

Operation Bumblebee's advice to avoid being victim

A MAJOR crackdown on burglary in London was re-introduced by the Metropolitan Police in October in the face of a nine per cent hike in burglaries in the capital.

Operation Bumblebee, which became one of the best-known Met campaigns ever after its original launch in 1993, uses swirling black and yellow graphics at bus stops and stations to encourage Londoners to "Think Like A Burglar".

Officers from Haringey police's burglary squad visit every victim of burglary to offer advice on how to secure their homes, working around the borough from 7am until 10pm. In the past month, the force introduced a dedicated burglary car to help with anti-burglary patrols and also regularly carry out search warrants, stop-and-searches and proactive targeting of known burglars.

Officers have issued crime prevention advice in the run-up to Christmas, a time when houses remain in darkness for longer with obvious signs nobody is home and when houses tend to have valuable gifts inside them.

The tips include: use an automatic timer on energy saving lights to make it look like someone is home, keep presents out of sight until Christmas Day and break up packaging before leaving it out for recycling so thieves cannot see what may be inside.

People are also encouraged to register belongings such as mobile phones, computers and bicycles on www.immobilise.com and ask neighbours to remove post from letterboxes and park on their drive if they are going away over Christmas.

'The opening of the school – some good coming from my daughter's death – brings me peace'

Victoria Climbié's mother finds some solace as school is dedicated in her Ivory Coast hometown

By Lucy Purdy

A PRIMARY school has been opened in Victoria Climbié's Ivory Coast hometown a decade on from her death at the hands of her abusive great-aunt in Haringey.

Victoria's mother Berthe Climbié said the school, which has been funded by the Victoria Climbié Charitable Trust and will provide free education for 360 children, was a fitting legacy for Victoria, who loved to learn, and said the process of building it had brought peace to her and husband Francis.

Having come to London to be educated, Victoria was eight years old when she died after suffering appalling abuse at the hands of her great-aunt and her boyfriend in Tottenham.

"Learning is the path to a better life," Mrs Climbié explained at the school's official opening last week in the town of Abobo.

"Today we honour Victoria's memory and celebrate the generosity of everyone who made this school possible by making a donation. I know what a difference the school will make to our community and after all the pain we've been through, the opening of the school – something good coming from my daughter's death – brings me peace."

Following Victoria's death, the UK government published the Every Child Matters green paper and it is in this spirit the school has been built. Donations flooded in from individuals and organisations all around the world after shocking details emerged of how Victoria was tortured before she died. Despite alleged improvements being made to child protection services after her death, the Baby Peter abuse case emerged eight years later.

Caroline Ingram, chairwoman of the trust and the driving force behind the school, said she was delighted it had finally become a reality.

"It's been a long journey getting to this point and we're very pleased that Berthe and Francis' dream of building a lasting tribute to Victoria in this way has been realised today," she said.

"Victoria loved learning, and we hope that the school will enable her spirit to live on in her community by providing practical help for children like her."

"Every child, no matter what continent they live on, should have the right to an education."

The opening ceremony was attended by members of the Ivory Coast government as well as by many parents of children who are now receiving an education there. The school is bilingual, providing lessons for children in both English and French and will cost about £23,000 per year to run.

Anyone wishing to make a donation to ensure the school's future should visit www.charitygiving.co.uk and search for Victoria Climbié Charitable Trust.

Burglar posing as police officer jailed

A MAN who posed as a police officer to steal from the homes of elderly people in Haringey has been jailed for two years and ten months after admitting a string of burglaries.

Michael Connors, 25, from Enfield, visited the homes of 25 elderly people aged between 79 and 100. He told them he was a police officer and needed to fit CCTV cameras and produced a fake police badge. Once inside their homes, he took cash including more than £1,000 in savings from one woman, which she was saving to fund her friend's funeral.

The burglaries took place in eight London boroughs including Haringey. Connors pleaded guilty on November 23.

Detective Constable Stuart Miller said "If you don't know the person at your door don't let them in."

Dance fundraiser to save market

A DANCE featuring Gaelic Ceilidh music and the sounds of Motown will take place on Friday to raise money for the campaign to save Ward's Corner.

The second annual Wards Corner Winter Warmer will begin at 8pm at the Tottenham Chances Club in High Road. There will be live music, DJs and food. Tickets will cost £7 or £5 with concessions; food and drinks will cost extra.

The Ward's Corner Community Coalition was formed in objection to controversial plans to redevelop the area in Seven Sisters, which is renowned for its busy Latin American market. Tickets are available on the door.

Plotholders set a date for land fight

By Lucy Purdy

CAMPAIGNERS fighting to buy their cherished allotments in Fortis Green have kickstarted their fundraising drive by creating a calendar featuring photographs taken of the spot by plotholders themselves.

Owners Thames Water, which was planning to auction the site off Woodside Avenue to the highest bidder, took it off the market after plotholders were enraged they might lose the spot, used to grow fruit and vegetables for more than 100 years.

Members of the Fortis Green Community Allotments Trust are negotiating with Thames Water to decide a price for the land and already 2,000 people have pledged their support by signing an online petition.

Livy Clover, from Muswell Hill, who helped draw up the design for the 2010 calendar, explained: "We thought this would be a great way to raise money but also to show how beautiful the allotments are."

The calendar is entirely sponsored by local businesses which were eager to back the campaign, particularly Capital Gardens, who will be selling the calendars at its garden centres in Alexandra Palace and Highgate.

Kate Humble, presenter of BBC's Springwatch, said: "Green spaces in urban areas support an incredible array of wildlife and are equally good for people."

The £10 calendar can be bought at www.capitalgardens.co.uk or www.savefortisgreenallotments.com

HUNDREDS back a petition to save Whittington A&E

HUNDREDS of people in Haringey have already signed an online petition calling for plans to downgrade local hospitals to be scrapped.

A petition organised by Hornsey Wood Green MP Lynne Featherstone on November 23 has attracted 1,500 signatures from people concerned that The Whittington Hospital in Highgate could lose its accident and emergency department.

Ms Featherstone launched the petition after a letter written by North Central London chief executive Rachel Tyndall was leaked which set out four options for a reshuffle of hospitals in the area – downgrading the Whittington to the status of a “local hospital” in each one.

The MP said: “It’s overwhelming and really powerful to see the signatures pouring in. It’s clear local people will not accept cuts or closures of emergency services at our closest hospitals – and neither will I.

“I will make sure that local health bosses have no illusions to the contrary when I present the petition – hands off our A&E!”

The news was revealed in the same week as cost-cutting plans for a merger between the Whittington and Royal Free Hospital in Hampstead were unveiled. Though health chiefs have insisted no decisions have yet been made, Sue Hessel, vulnerable groups officer at the Haringey Federation of Residents’ Associations, said health bosses were choosing “bureaucracy over nurses” and warned the consequences could be tragic.

“The prognosis for the Whittington is not good,” she said. “We are in a recession and I know there are going to be huge public sector cuts. I fear the Haringey is probably the most vulnerable borough and will come out of this worse. In the 1980s Haringey had six hospitals – we now have none.

“The scandal is that elderly people have paid their taxes all their lives and what have they got at the end? We’ve paid for this NHS. We are all shareholders.”

Rob Larkman, chief executive of the Whittington, said: “Any new organisation would have to be strong enough to protect our hospital services and be financially robust”.

‘I can’t imagine what life would be like now without the Sure Start Children’s Centre’

We are family!

MANJU Kewalramani, 34, a married mother-of-one from Brent, London, tells how her local Sure Start Children’s Centre has ‘changed everything’ in her life.

WHEN I moved to London from India, I hardly knew anyone outside our family. While my husband was at work, our one-year-old son Jashan had only me to play with.

I was a stranger in a new place and it felt uncomfortable and lonely. Jashan was also starting to talk and I was worried about what I ought to do to help him learn English as well as Hindi.

Then, the wife of one of my husband’s friends told me about the Welcome Sure Start Children’s Centre in Brent. It totally changed everything.

All mums and dads with children under five are welcome to go to the children’s centre and get involved in all kinds of fun activities, as well as accessing important family advice and support.

I was welcomed straight away and started attending all the parenting and language sessions. Everyone says it’s not easy to be a parent, but the Sure Start Children’s Centre lends a helping hand.

As I was making new friends with other mums, Jashan was making friends with the other children, quickly learning how to interact socially and how to share in games and activities. He’s picking up English well as he goes.

My husband gets along with the other dads too, so now we have a good network of friends to socialise with as a family.

I design and make beaded jewellery at home and before long I found myself running a jewellery workshop at the children’s centre – something I wouldn’t have had the confidence to do if it wasn’t for the encouragement of the staff.

The children’s centre also arranged some lovely day trips this summer. I wouldn’t think to take Jashan out on my own when my husband is at work, but an organised trip makes it possible and Jashan still talks excitedly weeks later about our trip to the zoo or the farm.

The children’s centre is a place where you can access all the help you need whether it’s working out your tax and other finances with the Citizens Advice Bureau or looking for employment through Job Centre Plus.

In fact I was so impressed with the way the staff took care of children in the crèche that I started to think about training to be a nursery assistant myself.

I was given the opportunity to work as a volunteer in the crèche to make sure it was the right thing for me. I now volunteer for two half days a week and really enjoy it. Even better, I’ve started a one-year childcare diploma course at Brent Adult Community and Education Service (BACES).

I can’t imagine what life would be like now without the Sure Start Children’s Centre.

We’ve done so much that we would never have done without the support and advice of the very helpful staff.

BUSINESSES IN LONDON DELAY PURCHASES AND INVESTMENTS AHEAD OF UPTURN

With Gordon Brown now predicting that the UK economy will return to growth in the first quarter of next year, 66 per cent of businesses in London have admitted to delaying purchases, investments and other projects while they wait for a recovery.

This is despite firms in the region acknowledging that it is important to prepare now for an improvement in trading conditions.

Some 41 per cent of companies say the main benefit of being ready for the upturn is that their business will be well-placed to grow when the economy improves, while 36 per cent state that laying the foundations now for a market bounce back is essential to their company's survival.

The statistics are revealed in a recent study commissioned by Lloyds TSB Commercial, which supports small to medium-sized enterprises (SMEs). The study surveyed hundreds of firms across the UK over the impact of the recession and their plans for the coming months.

Richie Coulson, senior business development manager for Lloyds TSB Commercial in London, said: "The changing economic climate has meant many management teams are understandably cautious about committing funds to new investments and projects.

However, a number of firms in London may find it necessary to invest in their business now if they are to maximise the opportunities an upturn in the economy can create.

By holding back on purchases and projects until next year, many companies run the risk of being overly cautious and losing market share once confidence returns to the market. In fact, 22 per cent of SMEs in the capital say that preparations made ahead of an upturn will be key to their positioning against competitors."

According to the survey, 55 per cent of businesses in London require additional support as they prepare for the upturn, with 19 per cent unsure of what it is they should be doing and 14 per cent seeking guidance on executing a plan.

Internal expertise will be the main source of advice for 43 per cent of firms, however 22 per cent will not be using anyone for guidance and a further 16 per cent don't know where to find the information and support they require.

Lloyds TSB Commercial's Richie Coulson added: "It's encouraging that SMEs in London are keen to seek additional support as they prepare for the upturn, but it's concerning that some firms are actively not going to use any additional sources of guidance – either internally or externally – in the coming months.

Although these are testing times for small businesses, the good news is there are plenty of channels of support they can access.

Companies that are worried about committing to new investments need to make use of the knowledge and advice available from their banking partner and network of advisers.

A close relationship with a supportive banking partner is significant in a tough climate. Not only can a bank provide the funding a business requires to make strategic investments, it can also direct management teams to good sources of advice, including specialist divisions within the bank or other professionals in the local community.

With a supportive professional network behind them, firms can confidently undertake a thorough review of their operations and financial wellbeing, ensuring that they are investing in the right areas at the right time, without putting unnecessary pressure on working capital."

Lloyds TSB Commercial is hosting a series of events throughout London offering members of the local business community the chance to hear from leading professionals about support available for SMEs and how to prepare for the upturn.

Partner of hit-and-run victim appeals for information on her death

'My life has been destroyed'

By Lucy Purdy

THE grieving partner of a retired nurse from Wood Green who was killed in a hit-and-run a year ago has pleaded for help in bringing those responsible to justice.

Moir Hagman, 54, died from massive head injuries after being hit by a BMW at the junction between Lordship Lane and Morley Avenue in Wood Green just before 11pm on November 27, 2008. Despite an emotional appeal at the time from one of Swedish-born Moira's daughters, the car driver has never been found. Now Moira's partner, Billy Kenna, has issued an emotional statement to beg anyone with information to come forward.

"She is deeply missed by me and her family in Sweden. My life has been destroyed – a year on and I have not moved on at all. We spent eight-and-a-half years together and I can't stop thinking about her," he said.

"I would just like to find who did this so I can remember her in peace."

Moir worked as a nurse in London for many years and lived in Moselle Road at the time of her death. Detective Sergeant Dave Hindmarsh, of Euston collision investigation unit said: "I am anxious to trace the 3 Series compact silver BMW believed to be involved in this collision. We believe the driver's side wing mirror may have been damaged as a result and I would appeal to the morals of the driver and ask him or her to come forward to help the family come to terms with their loss."

He also asked mechanics who may have repaired a damaged driver-side wing mirror on a two-door silver BMW on or after November 27 last year to contact police.

Contact the incident room on 020 7388 6806 with information or, to remain anonymous, call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Jail for charity founder who stole funds

A MAN from Finsbury Park who stole more than £22,000 from a charity he founded to help people with sickle-cell anaemia has been jailed for 18 months.

Ngoy Bin Ngoy, 39, siphoned off £22,249 from the coffers of the Sickle Cell Advice Bureau, based in Lea Valley industrial estate, between January 2003 and December 2004.

The Congolese national, of Rowley Gardens, duped the Lottery and the Home Office, as well as a host of charitable funds, into funding a drop-in service for sickle cell sufferers. But he kept the money himself.

Ngoy was arrested in March 2005 and charged with a string of offences. He was sentenced at Southwark Crown Court last Tuesday.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Roger Boydell-Smith said: "This individual cynically betrayed his position of trust."

Emotive pleas from new mum to jog witnesses' memories

PICTURES of a young father who has lain helpless in a coma since before the birth of his baby girl have been released by police in a bid to bring his attackers to justice.

Some 23 people, mainly from Tottenham, have already been arrested in connection with the serious assault on 20-year-old Michael Ogbuehi by a gang of youths on board a train in Essex which left him with life-threatening head injuries.

Police have released a photograph of Michael lying in a hospital bed, next to his 17-year-old girlfriend Mollie Jones, to motivate anyone with information to come forward.

Officers believe members of a large group of youths punched and kicked Michael on a busy train in front of Mollie, who was heavily pregnant with their now six-month-old baby daughter at the time, between 9.40pm and 10pm on May 29. The couple, from Chalkwell, were travelling on a London-bound train after a day out in Southend.

Michael started to suffer from severe headaches in the days after the attack and was admitted into hospital where he fell into a coma. In a statement released last week, Michael's girlfriend urged anyone who had information to come forward.

"Each time I visit the hospital I hold Michael's hand and talk to him about the good times and about how our gorgeous baby girl is getting on," she said.

"I will always remember Michael as a strong, fun-loving person, who was full of life. It's so difficult for me to see him like this."

"It is important people know what has happened to Michael," said Detective Superintendent Ashley Croft, who is leading the investigation by British Transport Police. "My message to anyone who was travelling on board that train is that they contact us with any information they have – no matter how insignificant they think it may be."

Officers have already made 23 arrests during their investigation – 18 males and five females – during the six-month long inquiry, predominantly aged between 15 and 21 and from Tottenham.

Anyone with information about the attack should call British Transport Police on 0800 40 50 40.

Cinders story with a trick in the tale

THEY'RE getting physical at Jacksons Lane in their attempts to go to the ball!

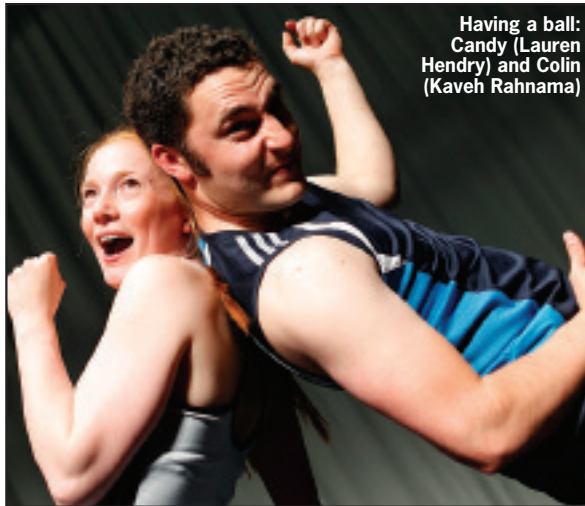

A new adaptation of Cinderella is this year's Christmas show of choice by the Highgate venue featuring a variety of magic and circus skills.

Written and directed by artistic director Adrian Berry it continues the venue's recent transformation into a centre specialising in physical performances and stars two of its associate artists, Kaveh Rahnama and Lauren Hendry who go under the name of So & So Circus.

"We are Colin and Candy, the modern equivalent of the ugly sisters," said Kaveh. "It's set in a talent school giving us plenty of opportunity to do circus tricks. Candy is in love with the new kid, Prince Charming who's a magician, while I'm in love with Candy so making an interesting love triangle."

Kaveh and Lauren, a couple in real life, met at The Circus Space where they trained, so beginning a successful partnership on both fronts.

"It has some brilliant benefits," said Kaveh, laughing. "We would hardly get to see each other if we were't working together and it's nice being a part of a great team. We certainly have no plans to split up at the moment!"

"I haven't seen a Christmas show in ages so it's fun being a part of something that's so different," added Lauren. "This kind of show reflects well on Jacksons Lane and Adrian has given us plenty of space for us to do our tricks."

● Cinderella runs at Jacksons Lane from Monday to January 3. For more ticket details and reservations call the box office on 020 8341 4421.

Out and about

● NINA CONTI and her monkey are the star draws at this Friday's Club Senseless. The infamous club night, Downstairs at the King's Head in Crouch End, will also feature Rainer Hersch and those masters of musical mayhem, Ronnie and the Rex. Laugh then dance the night away from 9pm for the measly sum of £10 (£8 concessions). Call the box office on 020 8340 1028.

● A RARE combination comes together at Lauderdale House tomorrow night. Singers Liane Carroll and Cleveland Watkiss join forces for the latest Jazz In The House event at the venue in Archway Road, Highgate. The regular winner at the BBC Jazz Awards will perform with Courtney Pine's former collaborator at 8.30pm and tickets cost £9 (£7.50 concessions). For more details, call the box office on 020 8348 8716.

● TWELFTH NIGHT is an apt Shakespeare for the season. Believed to have been written by the Bard as a Twelfth Night's entertainment for the close of the Christmas festivities, The Garden Suburb Theatre hopes to strike gold with its updated version running from tomorrow until Sunday, Upstairs at the Gatehouse in Highgate. Call the box office on 020 8340 3488.

gannets' restaurant awards

If your favourite restaurant isn't in, it can't win a thing

Nomination form for Gannets' Restaurant Award

Name and address of your chosen restaurant:

Reasons for nominating this restaurant (in no more than 25 words):

Your name:

Your address:

Post your form to: Gannets' Awards, Haringey Advertiser, 4th Floor, Refuge House, 9-10 River Front, Enfield, EN1 3SZ

VILLAGGIO, La Rugoletta, Hunters of Cockfosters, Burlington's, Dipali, La Caverna, Masala Lounge, Guru, Chez Tonton, Troodos, The Jolly Farmers, Chaseside Indian Restaurant, Lavender Lady, Zia Maria... just some of the restaurants which you have nominated thus far in our Restaurant Of The Year Award.

Do you recognise your favourite eatery in the list? Well, don't just sit at home grumbling, do something about it! So far, more than 30 restaurants have been nominated for our prestigious award which is the final word in deciding which is the best restaurant in north London.

We know there are more restaurants out there, which people keep telling us are "the best in town", but unless you make the effort to fill out the form they will not be in with a chance.

Just a reminder: the top nominated restaurants in our three separate categories will be visited by our crack team of gannet girls who will decide which is the restaurant of the year. The girls will visit the tasty trio undercover over the Christmas period before making their decision. So pick up your pen, fill out the form and pop it in the post before visiting your favourite restaurant and telling them what you've done for them today.

Who knows, perhaps it will ensure your portions are more gannet-sized than usual!

Remember, nominations are only valid if they include your name and address and no photocopies please.

Cinema's black hole

Cracks (15)

Dir: Jordan Scott
Starring: Eva Green, Juno Temple, Imogen Poots

WHO WROTE THIS DRIVEL? WHO ARE YOU? Let's find out... Ben Court and Caroline Ip. Ahhh yes, the famed writing team behind 2001's The Hole, described by one critic as "hopelessly confusing" and "the only thing going for it is a perverse need to watch as it falls apart".

Well, age has done little to improve the scribbling skills of Court and Ip, as this clunking adaptation of Sheila Kohler's book proves, with dialogue so pitifully lame it should come with a pair of crutches to keep it from falling into a ditch.

"You are not like the other girls," says teacher Miss G to her new protegee, so reiterating the bleeding obvious, while the constant sub-Dead Poets Society dialogue of "Girls... we are angels... eagles... set yourself free from the shackles of conformity," quickly turned a smile into a teeth-grinding grimace.

Set in an all-girls' boarding school on a fictional island just off the British mainland in the 1930s, it centres on a posh clique in thrall to the beautiful and exotic teacher known as Miss G (Eva Green).

With a penchant for headscarves, cigarettes and telling wild stories

Lazy days: Let's not worry about what this lot are up to about her love life, the teacher's position as queen bee is unsurpassed – until the arrival of a young Spanish princess with stories of her own threatens to topple G from her pedestal, resulting in her going a bit gaga.

Falling with a thud between various chairs, the damnable screenwriters cannot decide whether this is a Prime Of Miss Jean Brodie slice of life, a weird fairy tale, a love story or a bit of horror, resulting in a very confused outing of different tones and moods, so the viewer is left feeling as queasy as a drunk on a North Sea trawler.

No one's reputation comes out of this well. In her first feature film as director, Jordan Scott – Ridley's daughter – has chosen a dud, while former Bond girl Eva Green's beauty cannot disguise a bizarre performance of mounting incredulity.

The unthinkable also happens as, in a dressing-gown, mad hair and mouth as wide as the Channel Tunnel, she morphs into... Cherie Blair! AAAAAAAGGGGGHHHHHHH!

By Jonathan Lovett

Now showing...

Paranormal Activity (15)

Stunning low-budget horror, as a couple try to document the increasing bumps in the night through a hand-held camera, as Blair Witch gets a wicked makeover in suburbia.

A Serious Man (15)

The Coen brothers use their talents to almost wilfully make a downbeat, reflective yet dull meditation on the meaning of life. Circumstances conspire to drive a Jewish man round the bend in the 1960s Midwest.

Jane Campion's reflective film beautifully captures the flourishing relationship between John Keats and Fanny Brawne before tragedy struck in 1821. Touching chamber piece of moods rather than actions.

Up (U)

A blend of humour, sentiment and stunning visuals, as an old man and a young boy fly away in a house suspended by balloons.

An Education (12A)

Lynn Barber's memoir is transformed into an enjoyable period outing but lacks drama and emotional connection to its characters.

"Better Value Out of Catchment"

"As schools vie for league table position, parents are increasingly selective as to which school their children attend, to the extent that many families move house specifically to live within the catchment area of their preferred school," says Richard Oughton (pictured above) of Ellis and Co Enfield Town.

Property prices in such areas have typically risen faster than the national average, and property in the catchment areas of the country's top 50 community primary schools is on average 33 per cent higher than property in the local surrounding areas. Properties in the catchment area of a school that achieves a pass rate of just 10% above the national average will command a 2.55% premium - adding a premium of around £5,000 to on the average UK property.*

This provides an opportunity for those who do not have children, or whose children have moved on, to benefit from lower property prices. Districts adjacent to school catchment areas are not necessarily inferior to those within catchment, and if you are a buyer falling into this category you might do well to question preconceptions as to what constitutes a "good area".

Out-of-catchment homes are often better value than those close to the popular schools. "Better value" means different things to different buyers, but could mean that for the same price you could expect to find better accommodation, larger garden, nicer condition or additional parking.

So if schools do not figure in your life, or your children attend an independent school, then take advantage of the hidden discount offered to those buying "on the other side of the street".

For further information about property values in the school catchment areas around Enfield then please contact Richard on 020 8363 8282 or email at enfield@ellisandco.co.uk

BE A MULTI-SKILLED ENERGY ASSESSOR

Regardless of the recession, a new European Directive now legally requires an estimated 2.1 million homes and commercial properties being rented, sold or built to have an Energy Assessment this year alone. And more 'green environmental' laws are coming!

For example next year nearly every commercial property with air-conditioning must have an Assessment before the January 2011 deadline.

Applicants are therefore required to train now as multi-skilled 'Property Professionals' to carry out commercial and air-conditioning Energy Assessments and many other roles such as Flood and Fire Risk Assessments, Energy Audits, Insulation Surveys, Property Valuations, Home Condition Reports, Public Buildings Assessments etc.

No previous experience is necessary, training to join this new growth industry can usually be taken around current job at our nationwide training centres approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment and is subsidised. On qualifying start your own energy business, work for other Assessment Providers or be available for potential full or part-time work through our Energy Assessor Panel with earnings of up to £1,500 per Assessment.

ref: HBG495

Ring today for an interview and find out more about a career opportunity in this fast-expanding, new 'green' industry.

Public Notices

LICENSING ACT 2003

Notice of Application For A

Premises Licence

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Collage Arts has applied to the Licensing Authority of London Borough of Haringey for a Variation Premises Licence to permit the provision of regulated entertainment namely plays between 12.00 and 23.00 every day for the premises La Kera, Karamel Club & The Long Lounge situated at Chocolate Factory 2, 4 Colours Road, Wood Green, London N22 6UJ. A register of licensing applications can be inspected at Haringey Council, Urban Environment, Technopark, Ashley Road, Tottenham, London N17 9LN or www.haringey.gov.uk.

Any person wishing to submit relevant representations concerning this application must give notice in writing to the London Borough of Haringey, Licensing Team at the above address, giving in detail the grounds of the representation no later than: 30th December 2009.

The Council will not entertain representations where the writer requests that his identity remains anonymous. Copies of all representations will be included in the papers presented to the Licensing Authorities Sub Committee and will therefore pass into the public domain.

Representations must relate to one or more of the four Licensing Objectives: the prevention of crime and disorder, public safety, the prevention of public nuisance and the protection of children from harm.

It is an offence liable on conviction to a fine up to £5000 under section 158 of the Licensing Act 2003 knowingly or recklessly to make a false statement in connection with an application.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers' and, as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on any day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, will not qualify for republishing or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current Bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

RETURNCroatian star is on the comeback trail
after long spell out

By Lee Husson

SPURS boss Harry Redknapp has been boosted this week as Luka Modric nears his return from a broken leg.

The Croatian midfield maestro has been out of action for three months after suffering a fractured fibula in the league victory over Birmingham City at White Hart Lane back in August.

But Modric is closing in on a return to first team duty after taking part in training with the youth side, and Redknapp has been encouraged by his recent progress.

"Luka trained with the kids and he was moving a lot better, so he's on his way back and hopefully it shouldn't take too long, he said.

"We don't want to break him down and we want to make sure he's ready."

Modric's good news comes after Redknapp's side came from behind to secure a point at Aston Villa on Saturday, taking them up to third in the Premier League table.

Gabriel Agbonlahor had given Villa an early lead, but Spurs grabbed a stunning equaliser through an unlikely source in Michael Dawson – the least they deserved after another vibrant attacking display at Villa Park.

And Redknapp was full of praise for the defender, who started only his second game of the campaign.

"What a fantastic character," he said. "Every day he comes into work, puts 110 per cent in, if he is not in the team he is still fantastic in the dressing room."

He added: "When I first came here last year, the subs were sitting there and I don't know if they were even watching the game. There is a big difference in their attitude. I've said all along that if we are going to be a team everybody must pull together.

"It's hard for lads who don't play, but we're all part of it. You need that."

Tottenham, who were due to face Manchester United in the quarter finals of the Carling Cup last night, travel to Everton on Sunday (4pm).

El Maachi extends his winning streak with early stoppage

LUCY YOUNG

YASSINE EL MAACHI impressed on his way to a third-round stoppage of Alex Spitko at the Brentwood Centre on Saturday night.

The Finsbury Park-based Moroccan fighter laboured to a points win over the same opponent in August, but was a cut above Spitko this time around as referee Jeff Hinds called and early end to the bout.

The 30-year-old improves his record to 11 wins from 15 fights including five knockouts, and demanded a showdown with European champion Ryan Rhodes or former champion Jamie Moore after the fight.
